I have been notified of my duty to register as a sex offender pursuant to section 290 and 290.01 of the California Penal Code (PC). I understand it is my duty to know the legal requirements as stated in 290 PC and 290.01 PC, including changes to the law which may be made in the future. These requirements include, but are not limited to the following:

N-191

- My responsibility to register as a sex offender is a lifetime requirement.
- Upon coming into, or when changing my address within any city, county, or city and county in which I am residing, I must register within five working days as a sex offender with the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over my residence.
- Upon changing my place of residence, either in the present agency's jurisdiction, or anywhere inside or outside of the state, I must inform in writing within five working days the law enforcement agency with which I am registered. If the move is to a new jurisdiction, I must re-register my new address in person.
- I understand I am required to submit DNA samples, as well as fingerprints and full palm print.
- I must annually update my registration information within five working days of my birthday, starting on my first birthday following registration or change of address, by going to the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over my residence, or where I am currently registered as a transient, and updating my registration information.
- If I have no residence address and am registering as a transient, in addition to the annual requirement to register, I must update my registration information at least once every 30 days with the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the place where I am physically present as a transient.
- If I have ever been committed as a sexually violent predator, I must update my registration information at least once every 90 days and annually within five working days of my birthday.
- If I am registering as a transient when I move out of state, I must inform, in writing within five working days, the agency having jurisdiction over the place where I was physically present as a transient before I left California.
- If I do not know my new residence address or location when I move, I must later notify the agency of the new address or location within five days of acquiring the new address or location; if the address or location is temporary, I must also notify the agency within five days of acquiring a permanent address or location.
- If I move outside of California, I am required to register in the new state in which I am located or reside, within ten days. I must also notify the last registering agency in California, within five working days, in writing, of my move.
- I must provide proof of residence within 30 days of registration or re-registration at a new residence address.
- If I am on parole or probation, I must provide proof of registration to my parole agent or probation officer within six working days of release on parole or probation and proof of any change or update to my registration with five working days.
- Within five working days of changing my name, I must notify the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over my place of residence or place where I am currently registered as a transient.
- Upon release from incarceration, placement, or commitment, within five working days, I must register or re-register with the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the place where I am physically present as a transient, or my place(s) of residence.
- If I am enrolled, reside, or employed (with or without compensation) at an institution of higher learning, I must register with the campus police or law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over that campus in addition to registering with the local law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over my place of residence. When I cease being enrolled or employed at that institution, I must notify the registering agency within five working days.
- If I attend school or am employed in California and reside in another state, I must register with the law enforcement agency in the state having jurisdiction over my school or employment location, in addition to registering in my state of residence.
- If I reside or am a transient on a University of California, California State University, or community college campus, I must register with the campus police and in addition, with the local law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the campus.
- If I have more than one residence address at which I regularly reside (regardless of how many days or nights), I must register all addresses and/or locations with the law enforcement agency or agencies having jurisdiction over them.
